By participating in our tour, you acknowledge and accept certain inherent risks. This document serves as a release of our liability, and you assume all risks associated with travel, including but not limited to injury, illness, death, loss, or damage to personal property. These risks may arise from crime, acts of terrorism, acts of nature, negligence, or actions of others. Your signature on the waiver indicates your awareness that travel involves inherent risks, and you voluntarily release Outdoortravelphotography LLC, its officers, employees, assigns, independent contractors, and all involved parties from any liabilities.

As part of the payment for your participation in any tour, workshop, excursion, expedition, or program conducted by Outdoortravelphotography LLC or their assigns, you voluntarily release them from liabilities. This release covers risks associated with traveling to icy, remote, and mountainous areas, which may involve additional risks, dangers, and inconveniences such as floods, avalanches, landslides, wintry conditions, icy walkways and roads, and limited access to medical services. Outdoortravelphotography LLC assumes no liability for dietary requirements.

Traveling with a group involves compromise, considering the diverse desires, goals, personalities, and physical abilities of group members. While itineraries are carefully planned, they are not guaranteed schedules, and flexibility is necessary. Unforeseen circumstances, beyond our control, may lead to changes in timing, locations, and activities, with no discounts or refunds provided for affected activities.

You are responsible for selecting an activity suitable for your physical abilities and health, certifying that you do not knowingly have any conditions that could pose a risk. Outdoortravelphotography reserves the right to request a doctor's statement of good health.

In addition, you are responsible for studying pre-trip information, bringing necessary equipment and personal items, adhering to dress and hygiene standards, and acting considerately toward fellow participants and environments. Outdoortravelphotography LLC reserves the right to cancel or accept/reject any person for any activity, with the ultimate determination of participation left to the judgment of tour, workshop, expedition, excursion, or trip leaders.
